MR. AND MRS. I. A. SHEDD have returned from attending the international convention of the church of the disciples of Christ in St. Louis. They also visited Mrs. Shedd's former home, Paris, Mo., and Mr. Shedd's former home, Hannibal, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Shedd were present at the convention in St. Louis two weeks ago when Senator Warren G. Harding appeared there. Mrs. Shedd remarked at the striking resemblance of Mr. Harding to the late president William McKinley, both in personal appearance and in his tender solicitude for his wife.

A tremendous ovation was given Mr. and Mrs. Harding. 12,000 people cheering and waving flags. Gov. Gardner, of Missouri, was present for the great meeting, as were many officials and dignitaries of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Shedd saw a number of former El Pasoans on the trip, including Rev. Perry J. Sims, of Chicago, who for nine years was pastor of the First Christian church of this city. Mr. Sims said he had lived up with interesting and news of El Paso and was particularly gratified over the death of Robert K. Krasner and Joe Woodson.

POSTOFFICE EMPLOYEE HELD FOR ALLEGED MAIL THEFT

A gold braided, brightly colored gown reflecting membership in a fraternal organization, proved too much of a temptation to Arturo Billandinos, negro employee at the postoffice, according to charges preferred against him Wednesday before United States commissioner A. J. W. Schmid by postal inspectors.

The man was charged with having taken the package containing the gown and several other garments from the parcel post. He was also alleged to have stolen a package containing a delicately tinted evening gown addressed to a local woman's clothing house.

Postal inspectors say the man first claimed to have purchased the dress for his wife. Investigation, they say, showed the dress was too small by several sizes.

Billandinos admitted the theft of the gown, but claimed to have purchased the other articles. He was held under bond of $1500 for appearance in district court.

NARCOTIC CASE GOES TO JURY IN U. S. COURT

After perhaps the most bitterly contested local battle since the opening of the present term of federal court, the case in which Guillermo Calderon of the Palace drug store, of El Paso, Z. A. Bermudez, Juarez druggist, and Ponciano Herrera, Juarez hack driver, are charged with illegal handling of morphine went to the jury at noon Wednesday.

Calderon and Bermudez were charged in the testimony of Thomas Mayne, federal agent in Arizona, with having conspired to sell to him 15 ounces of morphine. Mayne testified that he approached Calderon at the latter's store, passing as a drug vendor and asking to purchase morphine. He said Calderon, promised to procure a quantity, intending, he said, to get the supply through Bermudez.

The Palace drug store, Mayne said, had been implicated in illicit drug dealing in cases developed in Arizona, which tended to show that the Juarez and El Paso druggists conspired to transport the drug across the border illegally.

Denial Charges. Calderon, testifying in his own behalf, denied all knowledge of any illicit drug deal. Mayne, he asserted, had asked him to cooperate in establishing a line of rubber goods in Mexico. The man posed as a traveling salesman, Calderon said. As a result of his proposal, Calderon testified, Bermudez was brought into conference, the plan being to make the Juarez drug store the first of a string to handle the goods.

The efforts of federal officers to draw others into law violations, was attacked by attorney W. H. Fryer in his argument in behalf of the defendants.

Club Feet

Little Robert Taylor was born with deformed feet. Plaster paris casts were used without success—so he was brought to the McLean Sanitarium. His parents' letter tells the story:

"We are more than thankful for what you did in correcting Robert's feet. Of course, his feet are hardly normal from the plaster casts, but they are so much better than his. He is now able to walk and run, jump and go anywhere with ease."
